DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 12, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Clack (US Patent 5,366,576).

Clack discloses a method for producing tubular products from nonwoven fibers. As shown in Fig. 1, the system comprises die assembly 26, which extrudes a plurality of nonwoven polymer (polypropylene) fibers 24 onto mandrel 60. Mandrel 60 has an inner end 61 rotatably mounted via bearings 64 and 66 on support 62, which is mounted on frame 36. Withdrawer assembly 30 includes threaded roller 80 mounted adjacent the distal end 67 of mandrel 60. Post treatment assembly 32 treats any loose fibers with heated rollers 110, 112, 114 before saw 34 cuts the tube 76 at predetermined intervals.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1734

4. Claims 13 and 16-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Clack as described above in paragraph 2 in view of Allen et al (US Patent 5,772,452).

Allen discloses a process for making meltblown yarn. The apparatus 10 comprises meltblowing die 11, which forms filaments 16 sizes in the ranges claimed by the applicant (see col. 3, lines 25-38). These fibers may be made from polyesters and polyolefins (see col. 1, lines 37-54).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to employ filaments of the sizes and materials taught by Allen in the system of Clack as a matter of design choice based on desired physical properties of the products being manufactured. Without the disclosure of unexpected results, it is the examiner's position that the cooling means, cutting means and ultrasonic welders are within the purview of one having ordinary skill in the art and would have been obvious to employ in the system of Clack in view of Allen described above in order to facilitate production of the filter products.
